SPIRITUAL AND PHYSICAL FOOD

A Pleasant Sunday With the Good People of Alachua Association

The invitations were so urgent and the weather so fine, we concluded to take in the Alachua Baptist Association, which met with Sardis church, near Oxford, last Sunday. In company with Sim Lummus, the Star's swift compositor, we followed the "gray" to the association grounds, in the piney woods, about 20 miles southwest of Ocala and four miles almost west of Oxford.

We reached the church in time to hear Rev. L. W. Simmons of Bushnell preach an excellent sermon in the morning, while Rev. N. E. Norwood discoursed impressively and spiritually in the afternoon.

At high noon we partook of a dinner such as only the Perrys, Shaws, Nichols and Andersons and others of that settlement can spread before a crowd with a sharpened appetite. The feast spiritually of the day, was a great treat, while that of creature comforts was a compliment to the gastro-nomic economy of nature, which in no way was despised.

The crowd was roughly estimated at from 800 to 1000 people, while the woods held no less than three hundred horses, attached to all kinds of vehicles, from the dashing drag to the slow, cumbersome, but perfectly safe two-horse wagon.

Those who sought bodily sustenance that grace might abound in the heart, was so great that the long table that had been prepared for edibles was entirely too short, so families of twos and threes spread cloths on the grass under the shade of the trees, to which strangers were invited, and enjoyed a most sociable family meal.

Notes

Major West, of the big West mill, kindly placed at the disposal of his men and their friends a free train from Dallas Junction to the church, which was well patronized and over which Mr. Hardicker, the accomplished gentleman and expert bookkeeper of the West company, was manager.

Among those present we noted from different localities the following:

Bellevue

Warren Smith and wife, Rex Nichols and Miss Nora Stroble and the old lady, Mrs. Pelot, with several friends.

Summerfield

Contributed Dolf Mitchell and wife, Sam Dillard, Mr. McWhite, Samuel Grimes, Charley Lucius, county commissioner, and wife, and Dr. W. J.
Ellis.

Oxford sent a host, and of these Major Wright, John Perry, Sam Stokes, Joe Stepp, Mat Nichols, Mac Blair, Mrs. Sykes Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. West, Professor Burden, Jr., Reuben Smith and wife, Ex-Chief Justice Ben Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Hooks, Mrs. Eliza Smith and the charming Miss Griggs. Of course there were others, Professor Simpson of Bushnell, Jeff Rutland, of the ferry by that name, and his prepossessing sister-in-law, Miss Wakie Lofton, a former resident of this county.

The editor of the Star was as usual in luck and his embarrassment largely arose from the number of pressing invitations to dine and his inability to oblige all parties and his utter lack of storage capacity to put out of sight the delicious edibles that were spread.

Those who will please accept his thanks for special favors shown are R. L. Clyburn, Charles B. Perry and Rufus Perry.

Henry Shaw and Ike Nichols went among the crowd and requested contributions for home mission work, and who could resist their appeals?

It is needless to add that the church building, which is of fair size and ordinarily equal to all demands on its
